Activity 1: Crystal Craft

Supplies Provided in this Packet: 1 Pipe Cleaner, Borax, 1 Popsicle stick, 1 string

Things needed at home: Water, Jar

Directions: Create any shape you would like your crystal to be using the pipe cleaner. Tie your string to the center of the popsicle stick. With your parents' help and/or permission, boil two cups of water. Once the water is at boiling point, take an empty jar and pour the boiling water in it. For every cup of water you boiled, add three tablespoons of borax. Since you boiled two cups, I have provided you with six tablespoons of borax. Stir until the solution starts to dissolve. Take your shape that is attached to the popsicle stick and stick it in the water completely. The stick should balance it where it stands in the water without touching the bottom or any sides. Allow it to sit at least 6 hours. It's better if it is overnight. Once time is up you will see the beautiful results. If you'd like, add color add food coloring once you pour your water in the jar.

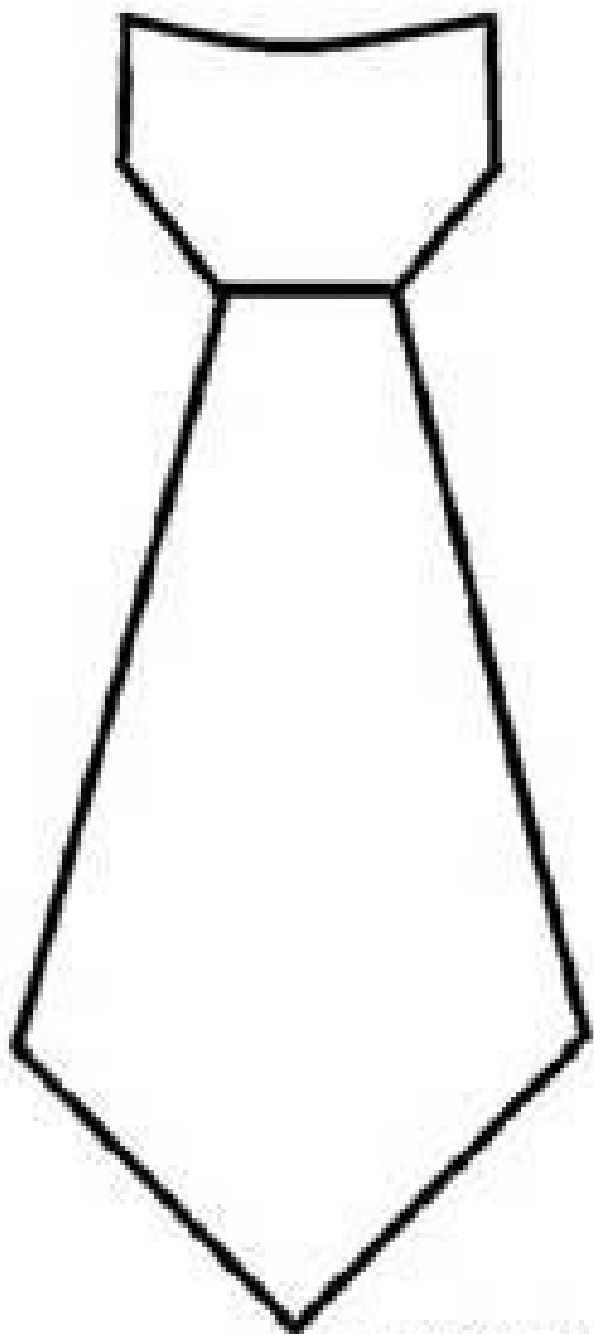

Activity 2: Clown Craft

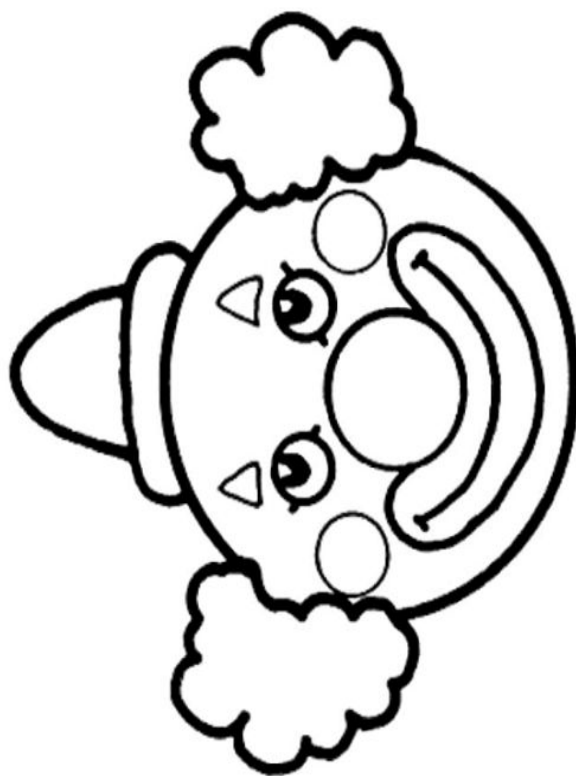

Supplies Provided in this Packet: Tie printout, Clown printout

Directions: The first week of August is International Clown Week and in honor of that you are making a clown craft. Color your clown head how you would like then decorate your tie in a creative crazy way. Then glue your head on top of your tie.

Activity: DNA Candy Model Project

Supplies provided in this packet: 2 Twizzlers, Toothpicks, 20 gum drops (friends A, T, C, G)

Things needed from home: 4 cups to separate candies by color

Goal: Introduction to the DNA structure

DNA is the genetic code that determines all the characteristics of a living thing.

Basically, your DNA is what makes you, you! DNA is like the boss of the company. It gives cells instructions that it passes down in three-block codes. These codes are made from a string of four different letters which have best friends they favor and prefer to hold hands with. A likes T and G likes C and when put together they become instructions for the cells. There are endless combinations that can be made, but the friends must stick together.

Directions: How to make a double helix model of DNA

Step 1: Sort the 4 colors of gum drops into separate bowls. Decide which color represents which friend. Pair A and T together with toothpicks and pair C and G together with toothpicks.

Step 2: Once they're paired, you'll create a ladder. The backbone (Twizzlers) are the uprights. The friends act as the rungs of the ladder. Attach the rungs to the uprights with the toothpicks.

Step 3: Twist the ladder into what is known as a double helix. The backbone (Twizzlers) of your candy DNA model is what gives the double helix a specific shape. They also hold together the A (adenine), T (thymine), C (cytosine), G (guanine) friends.

Activity: Backyard Volleyball

Supplies Provided: N/A

Things needed at home: Open area, Beach Ball, Balloon, or a soft ball

Activity: Find something you can use as a net. It can be a clothes line, a swing set, a hose pipe, or even a flat line drawn on the ground. Players will do Rock, Paper, Scissors to decide who gets to serve first. The server will hit the ball over the chosen obstacle to their opponent. The opponent will return the ball across the obstacle and the two players will continue until the ball hits the ground or goes under the “net”. The player who returned the ball and forced the error on their opponent will be awarded a point and will hold serve.

Game Point: First to 15 is the winner... must win by 2.

No Spiking (hitting the ball hard)... this game is designed for physical activity and players moving for extended periods of time.

Player can hit the ball 3 times... on the 3rd attempt, the player must hit the ball across the “Net”. If 2 or more players are on a side, the players must take turns (alternate) hitting the ball.

No catching the ball and hitting the ball back across the net.

Activity: Water Balloons Pinata

Supplies provided in this packet: String, balloons

Things needed at home: Water, bat or stick, blindfold

Directions: This is a quick, yet fun game that can be played outside! Fill the balloons with water. About half full should be enough. Tie the balloons to the string about 2 feet apart. Then simply hang the string and balloons up right above your head. Make sure no one is too close, put on a blindfold, grab a stick or bat and swing away! There is a picture below! Hope you enjoy!

Activity 1: Jai alai (milk jug toss)

Supplies Provided in this packet: N/A

Things need at home: Empty milk jug, scissors, marker, small ball or wad of paper

Directions: This can be a single player game or a multi-players game. Find an empty milk or juice jug and rinse it out. You can keep the lid if you want to or throw it away. it really doesn't have a purpose. Take the marker and draw the pattern on the jug where you want to cut it so that the jug becomes a scoop. Then go outside and using the handle, toss the ball against the wall or to an opponent. Below is a picture of what your scoop should look like.

Activity 2: Monster Hops

Supplies provided in this packet: Monster footprints

Things needed at home: None

Directions: This is another quick minute-to-win-it game that is very easy to set up and can be played almost anywhere. It can be a single player game or a race against someone else. The concept is easy. Place the monster footprints in a straight line and hop on the pieces of paper in the direction of the prints.
